Conversation
Starters for Families

Tired of the same old discussion at dinner each night like this one:

How was school today? Good.
What did you do today? Nothing.

Avoid those dead-end questions and try asking a few of these instead. You'll find these conversation starters can not only be the easiest family game to play at the dinner table, but you will get to know each other better, laugh louder, and maybe even find your family hanging out together long after you finish eating. So, Let's Chat!
